++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry start to the night, but becoming wet and windy.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers will fade this evening to leave a dry spell with clear periods. However, it will become windy overnight with another band of heavy and persistent rain sweeping eastwards across the region. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Sunday:
Heavy, persistent rain will clear away fairly quickly to leave another day of sunshine and scattered showers, that could be heavy and thundery at times. Remaining rather blustery. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Remaining unsettled through the start of the week. Often quite windy with showers at times. Some sunny spells too, but temperatures below average for the time of year.
